You are a pidgeon and you poop on things.

10V10. It's cute and funny. The art is great and the broken English is endearing. The 2nd or 3rd level after the tutorial the difficulty spikes and it becomes all but impossible.

The problem is that the game wants perfection while having random failure coded into it. You're given very little room for error (12 bullets for 10 targets, for example - oh but there's a sob story about a little baby squab starving so actually it's 10 bullets for 10 targets). You are a moving object (a pigeon) trying to hit moving objects (people), Your bullets (poos) are affected by wind, which blows either left or right (you're told which direction at least). The degree to which your bullets are affected by wind is based on the direction your pigeon is flying, and the poo's own weight - heavy poos fall faster and are pushed by wind less, while little poos fly all over the place.

The problem is that the weight of a poop is completely random and unknowable to the player, so ultimately whether a shot hit or misses comes down to luck. You can try to mitigate the RNG in various ways, like lining up your shots perfectly, or trying to aim for "clumps" of pedestrians in the hope a randomly heavy poop will hit someone you weren't aiming for, but ultimately it stopped being fun the 50th time I had to reload a level because a shot was randomly a different weight and went flying off in a direction I wasn't aiming.

If the game were more forgiving with ammo, or more consistent with firing, I'd have recommended it. As it is, I ragequit after about 25 minutes (steam didn't record my playtime for some reason?). It's worth a buck for the story and art alone, but the gameplay stops being fun very quickly.. Surprisingly difficult! I had fun playing this game, but you only have room to mess up very few times (1-4 usually). Which means that you'll have to restart multiple times to complete a single level. The soundtrack is pretty good and the English translation is impressive!

7V10. I bought this for 10 cents with a 90% discount coupon.

If you like being a bird and sh i tting on cars and people with precise accuracy this is your game.. It's basically a game where you feel like you're playing a GameBoy in your childhood days. I was gonna quit right after seeing the text quality and all but I decided to stay for awhile to try the gameplay and it was somehow fun. I'd say timing is the key in this game.. Who knew a modern Potty Pigeon would have a politically charged storyline with multiple branches that dealt with classism and the crushing realities of a greed focused society.

Also you get to poop on people.

(not so wild about that because it's really tricky once wind gets introduced, but you can figure out a rhythm eventually)

I got it because of the 1% discount game has 51% discount this time ++. This one.

What the hell did I play?

Very weird game, indeed, but, for some reason I liked it.

The funniest thing is that, for a game where you have to poop on people's heads (which is not easy as it sounds), well, heck, there are more dialogue lines than a Kojima's game!

Maybe it's a bit frustrating and redundant but it can donate a right amount of challenge and entertainment.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ILvV04qVKos> here's a review (english subtitles). I really wanted to like this game. It's silly, it has a Tommy Wiseau pigeon, and it costs $1. But some things are just broken.

The entire game consists of flying left or right and pressing space to poop on things. Sometimes the things move, and sometimes there is wind, so your poop moves. The dialogue between levels is in broken English that is usually understandable if you take an extra second or two. All of that is fine. It's funny, simple, and endearing.

The problem is the one difficulty mechanic \(admittedly I didn't get very far\) is wind. Wind makes your poop move, and wind changes direction, except it doesn't. Currently there's a wind indicator that shows you whether wind is blowing left or right. Wind always blows right, even if the indicator says it's blowing left.

Also apparently it's just a browser game, because every time I hit F12 to take a screenshot \(the default keybind in Steam\) a Chrome debugger window pops up over the game.

On one hand it's \$1 and it's entertaining enough that I kind of don't care. On the other hand I just paid \$1 for a browser game with one mechanic that doesn't even work.. There is not alot to talk about when it comes to a game where you control a pigeon and your main goal being to take a dump on various targets but sometimes the short and sweet games are the most enjoyable.

I bought this game with a coupon I received for crafting Steam badges and I think despite its broken English text\grammar I would genuinely recommend the game to anyone.

There are a decent amount of story missions in the game that branches off into three separate stories. They are all very well thought out despite the main goal being to pigeon poo over everything. The missions are not all the same and vary a little with mechanics which held my interest for longer. Missions are also relatively challenging too when taking into consideration limited 'ammo' and wind speed\direction.

Follow my curator page if this review was helpful and you want to see more reviews like this one.. It's a fun and challenging game!

You're a pigeon, you poop on things.

There are other pigeons that tell you what to poop on.

It looks like it was translated with Google translate, but, hey.

It's a \$1 game.

It's \$1, I should've opened with that. ... tough call. Do you like quirky indie games? Is the price under a dollar? If so, then mayyybe. The gameplay is pressing spacebar to hit targets, but there is a odd little story and it does run well on ubuntu linux. This lone wolf developer took his work seriously, and I appreciate those efforts, in these light-hearted games. I

think the steam store screenshots tell the whole story, so take a look, before purchasing.
